Protein Development and Manufacturing Services

About

Axio BioPharma is a Contract Development and Manufacturing Organization (CDMO) focused on manufacturing mammalian expressed proteins. Using our proprietary In-silico model, we predict robust and scalable manufacturing processes from just an amino acid sequence, accelerating drug development from concept to clinic

Services

Process Development

Our experts design customized manufacturing strategies for your mammalian-expressed proteins. We focus on developing robust, scalable processes that meet your specific requirements, ensuring a seamless transition from research-grade to GMP production. By aligning our expertise with your goals, we help streamline your path to success.

Discovery Manufacturing

Accelerate your early-stage discovery programs with our small-scale parallel manufacturing services. From 96-well plates up to 2L shake flask expression volumes, we provide rapid, reliable protein production for discovery programs. Our efficient manufacturing offers the agility you need to confidently advance your projects.

Research Grade Manufacturing

We deliver high-quality research-grade protein production to support your R&D efforts. Our scalable solutions ensure consistent, reproducible results, supporting preclinical studies and early-stage development.

GMP Manufacturing

Starting in 2028, we will launch GMP manufacturing services to support clinical development. We will offer process validation, large-scale production, and regulatory support, helping you bring life-saving therapies to patients faster.

Accelerate Your Development with Axio BioPharma

By merging traditional biopharmaceutical development and manufacturing services with cutting-edge AI technology, Axio BioPharma accelerates development timelines, ensures scalability, and boosts manufacturing efficiency. Our In-Silico model minimizes the need for traditional iterative experimentation, leading to significant time and cost savings. Partner with Axio to revolutionize your protein development process and achieve unparalleled results.
